Gloom Over England

QUEEN'S GARDEN PARTY

Only Served to Deepen the Gloom, by Contrast.

(Copyrighted, 1900, The Associated Press.)

(London, July 14.—The most brilliant garden party of Queen Victoria's reign has proved quite ineffectual to dispel the anxiety and gloom hanging over Great Britain. The escape from Kummass of Sir Frederic Mitchell Hodgson, the governor of Gold Coast Colony, and his wife and party, and the safety of the majority of those who so long were in danger of massacre at the hands of the Ashantis, created momentary feelings of thankfulness and jubilation. But, this was quickly dissipated by the news of the disaster at Nkwana, and the gravity of the news from China. A week that opened with high hopes from all quarters of the globe where Great Britain's interests are imperiled, ends with none of these hopes realized, except as regards Ashanti, and even there an English gardener, however, does not point to a speedy realization of their desire. Therefore it is small wonder that the government has practically decided to put off the election until 1901.

While the royal garden party failed in its purpose it was a wonderful affair. Posing as a general, general and Field Marshal, prince and princesses, leading statesmen, heads of professions and church dignitaries intermingled gaily, forming a dazzling mass of color against the green background of Buckingham palace lawns. After chatting with a few of the guests, the queen drove on through the double lines of visitors, probably as distinguished as ever formed in England. Cabinet ministers, ambassadors, actors, princes, doctors and lawyers stood bareheaded until the sovereign was out of the grounds.

After the garden party the talk of the week in society has been the Astor-Milne affair. Mr. Astor's departure for Maribah created no end of quips and comments, but there seems no reason to believe it in any way due to this circumstance. "Mr. William Waldorf Astor," says Vanity Fair, "is at Maribah, and Maribah is quieter than London," adding that "most people support the sailorman. Mr. Astor's last dinner party in London was attended by forty people but the host was unable to appear, owing to an attack of sciatica. The Saturday Review, of which Lord Hardwicke is the editor and with which several other prominent people are connected, soothly denounce Mr. Astor's treatment of Captain Milne, and refers to it as 'a gross violation of etiquette, adding: 'Milne is a naval officer of high rank and distinguished service, the latch of whose shoe Astor, with all his millions, is not worthy to untie. We only regret that the gallant servant of his majesty so far forgot his dignity as to accept a second invitation to the house of the poor-prod American who has been so kind to save him from the contempt of his countrymen. Mr. Astor wishes his entertainments to be exclusive. His desire is likely to be gratified in future beyond his expectations.'"

Mr. Foxhall Keene's reappearance in the ranks of gentleman riders at the races, caused the Daily Mail to say: "He should prove a welcome acquisition to the ranks of amateur riders. He has a nice style, though his seat, perhaps, is too upright for modern times. Still, he gets there all the same."

The departure of the American hospital ship Maine for China meets with warm approval both from official and unofficial England. The way this decision was arrived at is a happy illustration of the energy of the American ladies on the committee. The matter was only proposed Sunday last and between that and Wednesday everything was settled and the ship was refitted and sailed. The Maine will take care of Americans and British only, as Germany and other nations are also sending hospital ships. The queen was specially pleased at the promptitude with which the committee acted in this matter, and at the garden party the royal thanks were conveyed to Mr. Bernard Baker and several ladies of the committee for all the Americans had done and are doing in the matter.

The wedding which stood in the way of Lady Randolph Churchill's wedding now seem to have been overcome and the event is fixed for July 28. It will be attended by the Cornwallis-West family and Winston Churchill, who has married from the office of the London Times. The wedding will be quiet. The wedding breakfast will be served at the Moreton Freeland residence. With the announcement of the wedding, the departure of the Maine for China, the appearance of volume 5 of her Anglo-Saxon Review, and her garden party at Normal College for the blind, on Thursday, Lady Randolph Churchill was very much to the fore this week.

The London trades council has adopted a resolution formally repudiating the convention of English speaking democracies called by the council of English bail in the interests of which labor delegates are now in the United States. The council refers to the so-called Anglo-Saxon alliance as "that thing of straw." When the delegates return they will have a good many questions to answer.

The coming hot weather is not welcomed by the Londoners and a general exodus is beginning. It is feared that another spell like that of last year is impending. Until the beginning of this week London's death rate, thanks to the cool weather, was the lowest in seven years—only 12.5 in a thousand. One of the main objects is to decide upon the suitable distance to establish a temporary base for a squadron blockading hostile ports, and to throw out the old question of the ability of cruisers to sweep off and drive into harbor the enemy's torpedo craft.

The meeting of the National Rifle association at Bisley is attracting small attention.
